

Cult List with Runes

Those cults with runes that have been established in a book which is both part of the Gloranthan Canon and uses the allowed core runes have a source and page number listed as follows:

GTG: Guide to Glorantha

HQG: Heroquest Glorantha

P: Pavis

The following books are possibly canon:

HQC: Heroquest Core Rules

PT: Praxian Tradition (pre-published list from the Prax book)

Other sources – often older and using more different runes than HQG or sometimes ones that don't go together:

TR: Thunder Rebels

ST: Storm Tribe

TC: Troll Cults Book

CoT: Cults of Terror

CoG: Cults of Glorantha

GoG: Gods of Glorantha

HQRPG: Heroquest Roleplaying in Glorantha

LoT: Lords of Terror

Other ideas come from a variety of sources such as the following which don't describe runes but do list attributes of cults e.g. the The Gods Wall on GTG667, Glorious Reascent of Yelm especially p54-60, Entekosiad and Prosopaedia.

Where these sources contradict one another the latest source issue is used. Where a source is in italics it gives an idea of the runes (e.g. a moon phase or some older version of runes) but doesn't explicitly state the runes.

This is a God Learner type document which doesn't necessarily describe the gods as their worshippers would see them. All cultures tend to think that their gods are the most important but the HQG, GTG versions make some gods clearly dominant by making them the owner of runes (shown by two copies). Sometimes cults with the same runes and attributes are listed together as alternative names though their worshippers wouldn't see them as one cult e.g. Chalana Arroy/Erissa.

I have also listed in italics an indication of the kind of cult: Rune Cult, Spirit Tradition, Spirit Society, Lunar New God or Ancient Moon Goddess, Sorcery School or Common Religion. Some are more than one of these.

Note on Ancient Moon Goddesses – I have indicated which runes I think they have or had first before being assimilated into the Modern Lunar Way before the /. After shows the runes when they approached within the modern Lunar religion and have a moon phase.
